

Hello everyone!

Further to what I mentioned at our most recent meeting, I wanted to make sure you are all aware that our Language of Suicide video translations are now live and ready for sharing with your networks! Please do send these links out far and wide. Our English version has been a popular resource around the province and these new versions are in response to requests from communities for more resources in Indigenous languages. While we do put out other resources in Ojibwe and Cree, this is the first time we've also included Oji-Cree, and we are excited to share. For your information, we worked with Indigenous Languages Manitoba on ensuring the translations are accurate. All the videos can be found on our OCA YouTube channel:

Thank you for helping us spread the word!
